Tax Increment Financing Commission

Tax Increment Financing (TIF) is a financing and development tool that allows for new increments of tax revenues resulting from a specified redevelopment above existing taxes generated by the property. Payments in Lieu of Taxes (PILOTS) and Economic Activity Taxes (EATS) such as sales, utility and earnings taxes, may be used to pay for approved project-related costs, infrastructure and capital improvements.

TIF plans and projects are first considered by the Tax Increment Financing Commission, which is an advisory body to the City Council. Plans and Projects must then be approved by the City Council. State law requires that a finding that the project would not reasonably be expected to develop without the assistance of TIF (often referred to as the “but for” test). State law also requires that the redevelopment area be a blighted, conservation or an economic development area. TIF does not provide for the abatement of property taxes within a TIF area.

In the last year, the Tax Increment Financing Commission approved 2 redevelopment plans and amended 7 other redevelopment plans. In addition, TIF housing rehabilitated 57 units, $690,012 in funds, which includes owners matching funds.

The TIF Commission staff and board also manage the Downtown Economic Stimulus Authority. In the past year, there has been no activity.
